

Hello, I'm Declan, I'm a student at Abingdon and Witney College. Today I'll be showing you around Henley College.

This is the college's main reception where you obviously come for enquiries and questions. Over here we have the chill out area, with a telly...well 2 tellys, one there and one there. We've got a toilet – disabled and staff. And a lift which is disabled access only.

Here's one of the many corridors in the college. As you can see it's got quite a few noticeboards and a couple of displays. The Paths and the Pathways lessons are also done in here.

This is the pathway kitchen, where obviously they do cooking and prepare their lunches and everything. Obviously they have the essentials – tumble dryer, washing machine, dishwasher, microwave, oven, and fridge. And a very good one, adjustable tables so you can raise them up if you're tall or shrink them if you're short.

This is the Pathways computer room, as you can see it's got a very, very big touchscreen. The computers are inclusive so they have a few features that aren't on other computers in the college. And they have a smartboard.

This is the Pathways art room, as you can see it's got multiple art bits including this (gestures to a large structure), some collages, a nice little flower bed, some toilet roll castles, and a very nice display.

Now, this is the main bit of the Pathways area, as you can see they've got noticeboards and lockers for the students and some of the lockers even have pictures on. Now, students can come here if they'd like at the beginning of their lessons and break time...they can go on the computers which I think are back there. They even have an Xbox, which is obviously played on the smartboard.

This is the main canteen where students can come and eat their lunch, buy hot food and utilise the vending machines. You don't have to have had purchased food here to eat here.

This is the Hot Frogs café, where Pathways students come to work. Also, any of the students from the college may come and purchase their lunch here, and it is also open to the public. As you can most likely hear, they always have a nice song playing, a calming song. They can also use this as a chill out area. Here is some of the stuff they have on offer – rocky road, bakewell slice, brownies, and a massive, and I mean MASSIVE Victoria sponge cake.

This is the Pathways garden where the students can come and have their lunch. As you can see there's a nice variation of plants, lots of nice tables and a bird bath.

Thank you for watching the tour, I'd like to thank Rob Beesley, Nicky Smith and Kate Brennan for helping me do the tour. I hope this has helped you make the right choice for your education.
